

LIVING AN INSPIRED LIFE

This humorous and inspirational presentation will delight your audience, while providing insight into the lives of those living with severe physical challenges. Joseph Groh is a son of the construction trades, who became a quadriplegic and went on to start The Joseph Groh Foundation. To date, this foundation has helped dozens of people living with life altering disabilities become more independent by providing transportation, home remodeling, accessibility and assistive technology solutions.

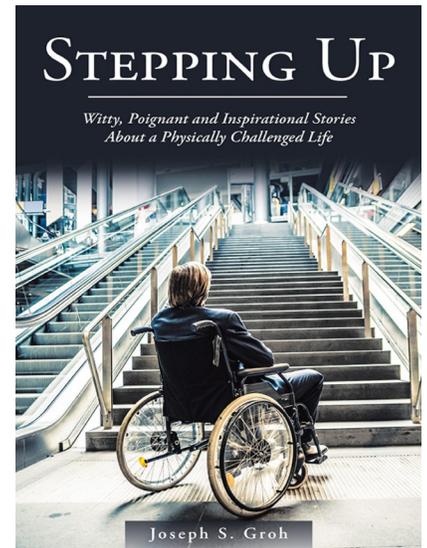

This presentation runs 30-45 minutes, based on the needs of your organization.

Following the presentation, Joe's book, Stepping Up will be available.

Have you ever wondered what a "day in the life" looks like for someone living with severe physical challenges? Your first notion is probably that it would be pretty depressing. Au contraire! This book is for you. Based on the real-life experiences of four very physically challenged individuals, Stepping Up is a witty, poignant, and inspirational look at the world through their eyes. You will bond with the stories in this book, which you may find incredible, sad or just plain funny. It is also an interesting look into the current state of the medical field, which these individuals have a lot of experience with. Open this book today – and prepare to have your assumptions pleasantly challenged!

Note: 100% of the proceeds from this book go to support The Joseph S Groh foundation.
